

Group Tours of the Louise Arnold Tanger Arboretum

The Louise Arnold Tanger Arboretum (pronounced “tan’-jer”) is an 11 acre arboretum featuring a multitude of plant specimens and garden features on the grounds of LancasterHistory and President James Buchanan’s Wheatland in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. The Arboretum includes over 100 species of trees from all over the world and includes two Pennsylvania State Champion trees, pollinator gardens, and a American Conifer Society Reference Garden. The Arboretum is cared for and conserved by the Friends of the Tanger Arboretum, a subsidiary of LancasterHistory.

 LancasterHistory

LancasterHistory offers guided, private tours of the Tanger Arboretum for adult and student groups of 10 or more, led by knowledgeable Friends of the Tanger Arboretum members. Guided tours traverse the entire Tanger Arboretum and take approximately 60 - 90 minutes depending on the amount of questions from group members and the size of the group.

Safety & Accessibility

LancasterHistory and the Friends of the Tanger Arboretum strive to maintain as safe an environment as possible so that visitors can enjoy and get the most out of their experience. Please note the following:

COVID-19 | The risk of exposure to COVID-19 exists in every public space where people are present. COVID-19 is a serious, contagious disease that can lead to severe illness and even death. Senior citizens and those with underlying medical conditions are particularly vulnerable. By attending a tour or program facilitated by LancasterHistory, you voluntarily assume all risks of exposure to COVID-19.

Accessibility | The Tanger Arboretum contains both paved and unpaved paths, and involves standing and walking for approximately 60-90 minutes. We've included a simple map of the grounds below. Alternative accommodations or alternate routes are available if requested. Please notify a LancasterHistory representative upon booking. Service animals are welcome.
