'Music on the Lawn' Returns at LancasterHistory for Fourth Summer Season

Outdoor concerts featuring local bands to take the stage in James Buchanan's backyard from July-September

LANCASTER, PA — LancasterHistory's Music on the Lawn series is back this summer, featuring a lineup of fantastic local bands performing in the scenic backyard of James Buchanan's historic home, Wheatland. This family and dog-friendly event invites attendees to relax and enjoy an evening outdoors with live music.

On July 12, Music on the Lawn kicks off the concert series with Trouble with Annie, a seasoned band of five musicians playing the best of country music from the '90s through the 2000s.

The Jordan Rast Trio joins LancasterHistory on August 23 for a folksy evening, playing bluegrass, country, and Americana music.

Music on the Lawn concludes on September 13 with a two band special! The Vulcans, an award-winning three-piece Americana/folk-rock band from Mechanicsburg, PA will open the September concert, followed by headliner Denison Witmer. Witmer is a Lancaster-based singer-songwriter with multiple records to his name. His style is often described as "neo-folk" with similarities reminiscent of 70s singer-songwriters Cat Stevens and Nick Drake.
