Blossom in Brooklyn: Tanger Arboretum To Lead Bus Trip to Brooklyn Botanic Gardens

Bus trip departs from LancasterHistory on June 8

LANCASTER, PA — This June, join the Friends of the Tanger Arboretum on a delightful journey to the Brooklyn Botanic Gardens (BBG), one of New York City's most beautiful natural attractions, on Saturday, June 8.

Designed by the renowned landscape architects John Charles and Frederick Law Olmstead, the Brooklyn Botanic Gardens first opened its gates in May 1911. Today, the Gardens are home to over 14,000 types of plants spread across 52 lush acres, featuring a variety of gardens, pavilions, and the notable C.V. Starr Bonsai Museum.

The coach will depart from LancasterHistory, located at 230 N. President Ave., Lancaster, PA, at 6:30am and arrive at the BBG by 10am. Participants will have approximately five hours to explore the gardens at their leisure before the return trip, with the bus departing BBG at 3pm and arriving back in Lancaster at around 6:30pm.

Tickets for this botanical adventure are priced at $85 per person, which includes admission to the Brooklyn Botanic Gardens, round-trip coach bus transportation, and driver gratuity. Please note that meals are not included; however, dining options are available within the gardens. Participants are advised to wear comfortable, weather-appropriate clothing and bring their own water bottles.

As seating is limited, advance registration is strongly recommended to ensure your spot on this popular trip. Ticket sales will close once sold out or by June 5, whichever comes first.
