

Research Guides

Marriage Records

Pennsylvania did not have a systematic registry of marriages before 1906. For marriages before that date, it is necessary to check church records or compiled marriage records. Knowing the township where your ancestors lived or their religious denomination will help to narrow your search. The LancasterHistory.org Research Library holds copies of church records from many congregations across the county, but not all. To locate the specific church records in our collection, use Churches and Cemeteries of Lancaster County (LC 310.35 R579) or search by the church name in our library catalog.

LancasterHistory.org also has microfilm copies of the Index to Registration of Marriages from 1885-1936, and the Marriage License Docket, 1885-1906. Visit the Lancaster County Register of Wills Office to search marriage records from 1948 to the present. Search the county records holdings in our Archives for Marriage Licenses (1895-1932, incomplete) and Marriage Applications and Consent Forms (1894-1947, incomplete). Researchers can also consult the additional reading room resources listed below.
